Movado Group, Inc.	06/23/2022	Management	10	Yes	Advisory Vote to Ratify Named Executive Officers' Compensation	For	Against	Against	Against	A vote AGAINST this proposal is warranted in light of the unmitigated pay-for-performance misalignment. Although the funding pool is based on a pre-set financial metric, annual bonus payouts are determined at the discretion of the committee and the CEO received a bonus award of relatively significant magnitude. In addition, long-term incentive awards remained entirely time-vesting, resulting in a compensation program for which pay is predominantly not linked to objective performance measures. The CEO's large life insurance perquisite and the provision that allows for single-trigger vesting of equity upon a change in control raise further

Despite additional supplemental disclosure, the committee demonstrated only limited responsiveness following last year's failed say-on-pay vote. Further, pay-for-performance concerns are again raised for the year in review. While annual incentives were entirely based on a financial metric, annual bonuses were paid out above target despite the financial target being set lower than FY20's achieved performance. Further, although long-term incentives are entirely performance-based, with improved disclosure of performance targets, the majority of awards use just a one-year performance period. The awards also lack disclosure of threshold and maximum goals, limiting investors' ability to assess the potential performance and vesting ranges. This portion of the grants was then earned near maximum level. Moreover, concerns are raised with respect to change-in-control arrangements that provide for a modified single trigger severance and automatic equity vesting acceleration, and the absence of several risk mitigators in the company's executive pay program.

Following adjustments made last year to the FY19 equity grants, the committee then also adjusted goals for the FY20-21 grants. While the changes to goals for the FY19 awards cited both the COVID-19 pandemic and a corporate transaction, adjustments made in FY21 were only pandemic-related. Investors may question the decision to make consecutive adjustments to long-term incentive awards, particularly as those adjustments have contributed to a pay-for-performance misalignment for the year in review. In addition, the company does not disclose a sufficient compensation clawback policy, sufficient stock ownership guidelines, or holding period requirements for executives.

Natural Gas Services Group, Inc.	06/16/2022	Management	2	Yes	Advisory Vote to Ratify Named Executive Officers' Compensation	For	Against	Against	Against	Against	Against	Against	Against	The compensation committee demonstrated sufficient responsiveness to last year's failed say-on-pay proposal. In addition, the pay-for-performance misalignment is mitigated at this time. The CEO's salary and target bonus were relatively high, but concerns with respect to equity awards have been addressed for fiscal 2022. However, a vote AGAINST this proposal is warranted because of a problematic pay practice. The company will pay sizable severance to the CEO next year upon his retirement, that does not appear to be involuntary.

In particular, the transaction is expected to be accretive to cash flow and free cash flow, materially increase OAS' scale in the Williston Basin, and enhance OAS' capital return program. OAS shareholders will also receive a cash special dividend prior to closing, providing certainty of value, while maintaining a meaningful ownership interest in the combined company, providing shareholders with the opportunity to participate in the potential upside of the combined company. In consideration of these factors, a vote FOR this proposal is warranted.

While some concern is raised regarding the disclosure of actual performance for annual incentives and closing-cycle long-term incentives, both programs are largely performance-based, with clear disclosure of forward-looking goals and the payout formula. The TSR portion of closing-cycle LTI was capped because of negative TSR, while the committee used discretion to reduce the earnout for the EBITDA portion following a change to the definition of adjusted EBITDA. Nevertheless, investors should monitor long-term incentive values going forward, as the company increased the RSU grant value to the CEO without compelling rationale.

OceanFirst Financial Corp.	05/25/2022	Management	13	Yes	Advisory Vote to Ratify Named Executive Officers' Compensation	For	For	For	For	A vote FOR this proposal is warranted. Pay-for-performance misalignment concerns are sufficiently mitigated at this time in light of the following factors. Bonus plan goals were set above 2021 actual achievements and while payouts were earned above target, the committee exercised negative discretion to reduce the size of bonus payouts. Although the annual performance measurement periods under the performance-based restricted stock awards continue to be a concern, actual achievement with respect to the annual goals has historically been below target (except 2021). Furthermore, the company intends to implement a three-year cliff-vesting performance period for performance awards granted in 2022.

PacWest Bancorp	05/10/2022	Management	12	Yes	Advisory Vote to Ratify Named Executive Officers' Compensation	For	Against	Against	Against	A vote AGAINST this proposal is warranted. The compensation committee demonstrated only a limited degree of responsiveness to shareholders' concerns that led to a failed say-on-pay vote last year. While the company provides enhanced disclosure surrounding the CEO's retention award and other aspects of the compensation program and CEO succession planning, the actions taken by the committee do not meaningfully address all of shareholders' expressed concerns, which is paramount following a failed vote. In addition, concerns with respect to goal rigor under the annual and long-term incentive programs underscore a pay-for-performance misalignment. In the wake of shareholder feedback expressing concern regarding goal rigor, some shareholders may find the lowering of certain annual incentive goals concerning given payouts well above target. In addition, relative metrics under the LTI program target the median of peers, which is not considered particularly rigorous. Lastly, concerns are also raised with regards to the tax gross-up paid for the CEO's personal use of aircraft perquisites.

Actual performance results and payout formulas for the annual incentive are not disclosed. Although annual-cycle long-term incentives introduced performance-based equity, these awards remained predominantly time-vesting. PSUs utilize only a single annual performance period, and disclosure surrounding PSU metrics was poor. Further, the CEO and multiple NEOs received special retention awards of significant magnitude without sufficiently compelling rationale.

Planet Fitness, Inc.	05/02/2022	Management	5	Yes	Advisory Vote to Ratify Named Executive Officers' Compensation	For	Against	Against	Against	A vote AGAINST this proposal is warranted given that significant concerns regarding the structure of the pay program were identified for the year under review. In particular, although the annual incentive for the CEO is generally based on pre-set, objective measures, the STI plan provides for additional payouts if the bonus funding pool is not fully utilized. For FY21, the application of this practice under the STI plan resulted in the CEO's receiving a significant increase in his bonus payments outside of the formulaic determination of 1H 2021 and 2H 2022 performance outcomes. Furthermore, the committee granted entirely time-vesting equity in FY21 and supplanted in-flight PSU awards that were unlikely to be earned with time-vesting grants. These actions are not generally viewed as a reasonable reaction to account for the impact of the COVID-19 pandemic.

Primis Financial Corp.	05/26/2022	Management	6	Yes	Advisory Vote to Ratify Named Executive Officers' Compensation	For	For	For	For	The compensation committee appears to have utilized significant discretion with respect to the payout determination under the annual incentive program and the specific performance goals under the long-term incentive program are not disclosed. However, such concerns are somewhat mitigated at this time given that the annual incentive program utilizes pre-set objective measures, and the payouts were earned at target. In addition, long-term incentive awards were pre-dominantly performance-conditioned and utilize a multi-year performance period. In light of this, support FOR this proposal is warranted, with caution. Shareholders should continue to monitor the company's pay programs.

PVH Corp.	06/16/2022	Management	12	Yes	Advisory Vote to Ratify Named Executive Officers' Compensation	For	For	For	For	A vote FOR this proposal is warranted. Annual incentives are entirely based on financial performance, and half of the CEO's equity is performance conditioned. In addition, total CEO pay decreased as compared to compensation for the prior CEO in 2020, and PSUs tied to 2019-2021 performance were forfeited when the threshold goals were not met. However, continued monitoring of long-term incentives is warranted in light of the one-year measurement period for a portion of 2021 PSUs, and given that NEOs' equity awards are primarily time-based.

Quotient Technology Inc.	06/29/2022	Management	5	Yes	Advisory Vote to Ratify Named Executive Officers' Compensation	For	Against	Against	Against	A vote AGAINST this proposal is warranted. Although pay and performance were reasonably aligned for the year in review, there are significant concerns identified with respect to the terms of the former CEO's separation agreement. Pursuant to the agreement, the board lowered the exercise prices of outstanding stock options without obtaining shareholder approval, which is considered a problematic pay practice. Additional problematic actions are also identified, as the board extended the term of outstanding options beyond their original expiration date and provided the former CEO with severance payments and benefits that are significantly greater than the payments and benefits the former CEO was otherwise entitled to under his existing arrangements upon an involuntary termination.

Although the compensation committee demonstrated adequate responsiveness to the prior year's low say-on-pay vote result, an unmitigated pay-for-performance misalignment exists for the year in review. There are concerns regarding the structure and disclosure of the CEO's new hire awards, which are amplified given the magnitude. Although the majority of the award is based on the achievement of certain milestones, many investors may expect a greater weighting ascribed to performance-vesting given the magnitude. In addition, the proxy does not clearly disclose the weighting of each milestone, the quantified revenue target, or a timeframe under which the milestones need to be achieved. Further, the proxy does not disclose the award is intended to cover multiple years.

Semtech Corporation	06/09/2022	Management	12	Yes	Advisory Vote to Ratify Named Executive Officers' Compensation	For	For	For	For	There are some concerns raised by the heavy reliance on individual performance assessments to determine the performance bonuses for NEOs other than the CEO. Further, the performance LTI design has certain issues, including a relative TSR metric that targets merely median performance and a stock price goal that may be achieved based on short-term achievement. However, there are mitigating factors for the year in review. The CEO's STI was based primarily on objective financial metrics with reasonably rigorous targets. The company has adhered to its intention not to award the CEO additional LTI through 2023. Further, the LTI for other NEOs was majority performance-based, the stock price goal required significant appreciation, and vesting for relative TSR is capped at target for negative absolute TSR. On balance of these factors, a cautious vote FOR this proposal warranted. Shareholders should continue to monitor incentive programs, as noted design concerns may exacerbate if pay and performance become further misaligned.

SI-BONE, Inc.	06/16/2022	Management	5	Yes	Advisory Vote to Ratify Named Executive Officers' Compensation	For	For	For	For	Although concerns are raised by the lack of performance-vesting criteria attached to annual equity awards, there are mitigating factors for the year in review. Notably, the committee has introduced performance-conditioned equity for 2022, which will comprise half of the CEO's equity mix, in response to shareholders' concerns. Moreover, disclosure under the STI plan was improved year-over-year, and incentives were largely based on pre-set, objective measures. Additionally, the committee modified Executive Chairman Dunn's employment agreement to eliminate the single-trigger severance provision, replacing it with a double-trigger severance provision, in direct response to shareholder concerns. On balance of these factors, a vote FOR this proposal is warranted.

Silicon Laboratories Inc.	04/21/2022	Management	5	Yes	Advisory Vote to Ratify Named Executive Officers' Compensation	For	Against	Against	Against	A vote AGAINST this proposal is warranted. In connection with the CEO's voluntary retirement, the company and the outgoing CEO entered into an agreement that will entitle him to severance payments. The payment of cash upon a voluntary termination is not a common market practice, as cash payments are generally intended as a protection against involuntary job loss. Additionally, while the pay-for-performance misalignment is sufficiently mitigated for the year in review, concern is noted regarding the use of annualized performance periods in a portion of the PSU grant.

Simmons First National Corporation	04/27/2022	Management	18	Yes	Advisory Vote to Ratify Named Executive Officers' Compensation	For	Against	Against	Against	A vote AGAINST this proposal is warranted due to a pay-for-performance misalignment. Performance metrics under the long-term incentive program target merely median performance and it does not appear payouts are capped in the event absolute TSR is negative over the performance period. In addition, certain goals associated with previously granted equity awards were lowered, and the company did not disclose the achievement level for the performance metrics associated with the 2019-2021 performance cycle, making it difficult to assess whether the payout resulting from the adjustment is reasonable.

Although half of the annual incentive funding pool is based on strategic objectives, disclosure of such objectives is thorough, and the objectives were deemed critical to integrate the legacy entities following the merger. In addition, approximately half of the annual long-term incentive grants are performance-conditioned and vest over a multi-year period. Moreover, certain NEOs received sign-on equity awards. While majority of these awards are time-vesting, it is not uncommon for NEOs to receive sizeable equity awards in connection with their commencement of employment following a merger transaction and such awards are not expected to recur.

Spirit AeroSystems Holdings, Inc.	04/27/2022	Management	12	Yes	Advisory Vote to Ratify Named Executive Officers' Compensation	For	For	Against	Against	Annual incentives remained determined largely by objective metrics, with below-target awards corresponding to recent performance. Although there is some concern raised given the majority time-based equity grants in FY21, the company will transition to half performance-conditioned equity grants starting in FY22 and closing cycle performance shares were not earned following below threshold performance, in line with three-year TSR performance. However, votes AGAINST this proposal are warranted because the company provided a large corporate aircraft perquisite to the CEO.

Switch, Inc.	06/10/2022	Management	11	Yes	Advisory Vote to Ratify Named Executive Officers' Compensation	For	For	Against	Against	A vote AGAINST this proposal is warranted as the company provided an inordinate amount of personal use of corporate aircraft perquisites to the CEO.
Switch, Inc.	06/10/2022	Management	12	Yes	Amend Securities Transfer Restrictions	For	For	For	For	In this case, the transfer and ownership restrictions are being proposed to help the company to comply with requirements to qualify as a REIT under the Internal Revenue Code. Moreover, the board has put forth additional provisions that improve the overall governance structure of the company, including lowering the voting standard to amend the company's governing documents, which outweigh the anti-takeover risks posed by this proposal. Therefore, a vote FOR this proposal is warranted.
Switch, Inc.	06/10/2022	Management	13	Yes	Change State of Incorporation to Maryland	For	For	For	For	The primary purpose of the reincorporation is to facilitate the conversion of the company's transition into a REIT under Maryland MGCL, which has certain advantages over Nevada from management's point of view. In this case, however, shareholder rights would generally improve upon conversion to a REIT, and the board has elected not to be classified – as permitted by MUTA – unless approved by a majority of shareholders. Nonetheless, shareholders are advised to closely monitor the board's actions as a Maryland corporation permits greater corporate flexibility without certain shareholder approval requirements, including increasing the authorized capital stock of the company. On balance of these factors, a vote FOR this proposal is warranted.

Tejon Ranch Co.	05/10/2022	Management	5	Yes	Advisory Vote to Ratify Named Executive Officers' Compensation	For	For	For	For	A cautionary vote FOR this proposal is warranted. The compensation committee demonstrated a certain degree of responsiveness following last year's failed say-on-pay proposal. In addition, the pay-for-performance misalignment is somewhat mitigated at this time, primarily due to a significant decrease in CEO pay and given that the short-term incentive program is primarily performance-based. Shareholders should continue to monitor the executive compensation practices given that certain concerns remain.

Telesat Corp.	06/01/2022	Management	2	Yes	Elect Director Melanie Bernier	For	For	For		The company completed a merger transaction in November 2021 and therefore the long-term alignment and analysis of CEO pay and company performance cannot be completed at this time. However, some significant problematic pay practices have been identified, including the excessive share-based awards granted to the CEO and internal pay disparity. The magnitude of those grants to the CEO raises significant concerns, especially since there are no performance-based vesting conditions attached to the grants other than achieving a certain share price. In addition, the company granted the CEO a $5 million "going public" bonus. Upon completion of the transaction, the CEO received a total compensation of over $64 million. Considering the above reasons, a vote WITHHOLD is warranted for the continuing compensation committee members Mark Rachesky, A. Jane Craighead, and Guthrie Stewart. Telesat Corp.	06/01/2022	Management	11	Yes	Elect Director Michael B. Targoff	For	For	For		The company completed a merger transaction in November 2021 and therefore the long-term alignment and analysis of CEO pay and company performance cannot be completed at this time. However, some significant problematic pay practices have been identified, including the excessive share-based awards granted to the CEO and internal pay disparity. The magnitude of those grants to the CEO raises significant concerns, especially since there are no performance-based vesting conditions attached to the grants other than achieving a certain share price. In addition, the company granted the CEO a $5 million "going public" bonus. Upon completion of the transaction, the CEO received a total compensation of over $64 million. Considering the above reasons, a vote WITHHOLD is warranted for the continuing compensation committee members Mark Rachesky, A. Jane Craighead, and Guthrie Stewart. Tenneco Inc.	06/07/2022	Management	15	Yes	Advisory Vote to Ratify Named Executive Officers' Compensation	For	For	For	For	A vote FOR this proposal is warranted. While reported CEO pay more than doubled year-over-year, a large portion of the increase was due to the inclusion of FY20 performance equity awards in FY21 pay, as the committee delayed goal-setting during the early part of the pandemic. Although concerns are raised regarding the company's goal-setting practices, particularly in the annual incentive program where one of the financial targets was set below last year's actual performance, payouts for annual and closing cycle long-term incentives were near-target and in line with performance over the respective periods. Nevertheless, investors would benefit from additional disclosure of long-term incentive goals, particularly after the performance period has been completed.

Some concerns are raised with the executive compensation program, such as a relatively high salary for the CEO and performance targets being set below prior year actual performance without a clear rationale. However, the pay-for-performance misalignment is somewhat mitigated at this time given that the short-term incentive program is entirely performance-based, half of equity awards are performance-based, and prior cycle PSUs were earned below target in line with performance.

Texas Capital Bancshares, Inc.	04/19/2022	Management	13	Yes	Advisory Vote to Ratify Named Executive Officers' Compensation	For	Against	Against	Against	A vote AGAINST this proposal is warranted. Although CEO pay was elevated in FY21 due to new hire awards, including a $14.5 million make-whole equity grant, the annual pay program had multiple concerning changes. The new CEO's target bonus was relatively high, and a large portion of the annual bonus payout is based on qualitative metrics with payouts based on the compensation committee's discretion. Further, in the LTI, although a majority of the grant is in performance equity, the EPS metric shifted from a three-year performance period to three one-year performance periods, with no disclosure of forward-looking goals. In addition to the pay program concerns, the company paid cash severance to the former CFO upon a voluntary resignation.

The Brink's Company	05/06/2022	Management	10	Yes	Advisory Vote to Ratify Named Executive Officers' Compensation	For	For	For	For	A vote FOR this proposal is warranted, with caution. The committee was sufficiently responsive to last year's failed say-on-pay vote, committing not to grant off-cycle LTI awards to NEOs that are exclusively short term and time vested, and implementing additional changes for FY22 equity awards. However, continued monitoring of pay levels is warranted, particularly given the leadership transition, to ensure equity values normalize. Further, investors would benefit from additional details regarding targets in both incentive programs.

The Chefs' Warehouse, Inc.	05/13/2022	Management	12	Yes	Advisory Vote to Ratify Named Executive Officers' Compensation	For	Against	Against	Against	A vote AGAINST this proposal is warranted as the company paid an excessive tax gross-up related to the CEO's executive life insurance. Additionally, although the annual bonus was capped at target and was based on pre-set objective metrics, multiple concerns exist within the LTI program. The company granted replacement grants to executives after cancelling their 2019 and 2020 performance equity grants due to poor performance. However, these replacement grants are half based on time-vested equity, and no disclosure exists regarding why a replacement grant for performance equity would be partially time based. Additionally, the stock price portion for both the annual performance equity grant as well as the performance portion of the replacement grant targets a stock price below the grant date stock price, and appears to have been met within 20 trading days of grant.

The Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company	04/11/2022	Management	12	Yes	Advisory Vote to Ratify Named Executive Officers' Compensation	For	Against	Against	Against	A vote AGAINST this proposal is warranted. Although the compensation committee made positive changes to pay programs in response to last year's low say-on-pay vote, concerns are raised regarding FY2021 decisions. The company continued to use annually set goals in the long-term incentive program, limiting the long-term nature of those awards. More concerning, however, was a potentially uncapped retention agreement the company entered into with the CEO and another NEO. The agreements seek to incentivize the NEOs to delay retirement until after FY23; however, the structure of the agreements may result in sizable, non-performance-based payments in the event interest rates increase between 2021 and the date of their respective future retirements.

While certain goal-rigor and disclosure concerns remain, the annual incentive program is predominantly based on pre-set objective metrics, and the CEO's below-target payout was granted in time-based equity. In addition, the compensation plan features above-median benchmarking which targets the CEO's total compensation at the 75th percentile of its peers, a problematic modified single-trigger severance in existing agreement and a lack of risk mitigators.

The Western Union Company	05/19/2022	Management	12	Yes	Advisory Vote to Ratify Named Executive Officers' Compensation	For	For	For	For	On balance, a cautious vote FOR this proposal is warranted. Certain concerns are identified with respect to pandemic-related changes to the way annual and LTI goals are measured. In addition, greater disclosure surrounding strategic and individual goals and achievements under the annual incentive plan would benefit shareholders. However, there are mitigating factors for the year in review. Pay is elevated for the new CEO due to make-whole cash and equity awards granted to compensate him for awards he forfeited by leaving his former employer. In addition, annual and long-term awards are predominantly tied to objective performance metrics and goals appear reasonably rigorous, as STI financial metrics are growth-based and the relative TSR target and maximum goals require outperformance.

Specifically, the bylaws prohibit shareholders from amending the bylaws and include provisions that erect hurdles beyond those of the SEC's Rule 14a-8 that make it more difficult for a shareholder to include any precatory proposals on the proxy ballot. WITHHOLD votes for incumbent compensation committee members Lisa Jones and Rajan Penkar are warranted considering the company does not offer an annual say on pay proposal and the executive compensation plan features single-trigger vesting acceleration of equity awards, and lacks risk mitigators and preset performance criteria for the CEO's bonus and equity awards.

Turning Point Therapeutics, Inc.			3	Yes	Advisory Vote to Ratify Named Executive Officers' Compensation	For	Against	Against	Against	A vote AGAINST this proposal is warranted. Although the STI program is tied to the achievement of certain corporate goals, the goals are generally described in qualitative terms, payouts are discretionarily determined, and disclosure regarding performance results under the program is limited. In addition, although the committee introduced performance shares into the LTI program, the large majority of the CEO's sizable equity awards consisted of time-vesting RSUs and stock options. While acknowledging that stock options are considered more strongly performance-based at clinical-stage biopharmaceutical companies, many investors may expect performance shares to comprise a larger portion of the CEO's equity awards, given their magnitude and the fact that the company has reported positive revenue in recent years. In addition, in an 8-K announcing the entry into a merger agreement between the company and Bristol-Myers Squibb Company, the company discloses that the board approved and authorized agreements that provide for the payment of golden parachute excise tax gross-ups for the CEO and certain NEOs in connection with the merger agreement. Golden parachute excise tax gross-ups are not the market norm, and the provision of such gross-ups is considered a problematic pay practice.

Tutor Perini Corporation	05/18/2022	Management	12	Yes	Advisory Vote to Ratify Named Executive Officers' Compensation	For	Against	Against	Against	Against	A vote AGAINST this proposal is warranted. The compensation committee demonstrated poor responsiveness to shareholder concerns following last year's failed say-on-pay proposal. The company also entered into a new CEO agreement which includes an excessive cash severance provision. In addition, the pay-for-performance misalignment has not been mitigated given that significant concerns have been identified in the executive compensation program. The CEO's already high salary and target bonus were further increased during fiscal 2021, and his new target long-term incentives also became relatively high. In addition, performance targets under the short-term incentive program were set below prior year actual performance without a clear rationale, performance-based awards may pay out at target for median performance, and there is no disclosed cap on payouts when TSR is negative. Lastly, concerns remain with respect to the magnitude of CEO perquisites.

However, a cautionary vote FOR this proposal is warranted given that the company demonstrated only limited responsiveness to last year's low say-on-pay support. While the company engaged with shareholders and committed to provide enhanced disclosure in the event of any unique separation arrangements in the future, the company only disclosed feedback and many other pay program changes related to the failed vote in 2020.

Umpqua Holdings Corporation	01/26/2022	Management	1	Yes	Approve Merger Agreement	For	For	For	For	Shareholders may be concerned about the underperformance of UMPQ shares since the announcement, as well as the lack of a sale process. Nonetheless, the strategic rationale appears sound, as the combined company would be positioned as the second largest independent bank focused on the West coast, shareholders are receiving a premium, the deal is expected to generate $135 million of annual cost synergies equal to 12.5 percent of the combined company's non-interest expenses, and the projected tangible book value dilution is a reasonable 5.9 percent, with an expected 2.6 year earn back period. On balance, in light of reasonable strategic rationale and financial metrics, support FOR the transaction is warranted.
Umpqua Holdings Corporation	01/26/2022	Management	2	Yes	Advisory Vote on Golden Parachutes	For	Against	Against	Against	A vote AGAINST the proposal is warranted. Although equity awards are double trigger and CEO O'Haver's legacy change-in-control provisions are reasonable, O'Haver will receive deferred cash compensation valued at $5.25 million, effectively paying O'Haver's original cash severance. Further, the proxy does not disclose that payment requires a constructive or involuntary loss of employment. Given that O'Haver is expected to remain with the company post-closing, such payment is effectively deferred single trigger cash severance.

Universal Display Corporation	06/23/2022	Management	10	Yes	Advisory Vote to Ratify Named Executive Officers' Compensation	For	Against	Against	Against	Following last year's failed say-on-pay vote, the committee demonstrated adequate responsiveness to shareholder concerns. However, although disclosed changes to next year's compensation program will reduce the magnitude of LTI award values and increase the proportion of performance-based equity, significant concerns remain, particularly regarding the long-term incentive program. Neither forward-looking goals for PSU metrics nor performance results and vesting of closing-cycle awards are disclosed, precluding investor assessment of the link between pay and performance for equity awards of significant magnitude. Further, multiple NEOs received total compensation that was greater than total peer median CEO pay and, despite reductions to the value of FY22 LTI awards, one NEO will continue to receive total compensation equal to that of the CEO; investors may question the necessity of paying multiple executives at the level of a CEO. Lastly, the company maintains agreements that contain excise tax gross-up provisions. Accordingly, a vote AGAINST this proposal is warranted.

US Foods Holding Corp.	05/18/2022	Management	12	Yes	Advisory Vote to Ratify Named Executive Officers' Compensation	For	For	For	For	A vote FOR this proposal is warranted, with caution. CEO pay is not excessive, and pay and performance are reasonably aligned for the year in review. However, while one-time PRSUs include TSR goals requiring meaningful growth and vest over four years, annual equity awards were entirely time-based. Close monitoring of equity grant practices is warranted, and investors may expect grant values to normalize and for one-time awards not to be repeated in 2022.

Vector Group Ltd.	06/28/2022	Management	11	Yes	Advisory Vote to Ratify Named Executive Officers' Compensation	For	Against	Against	A vote AGAINST this proposal is warranted. The compensation committee has not adequately responded to below majority support for the prior year's say-on-pay proposal, as it is not clear that compensation program changes have meaningfully addressed the primary shareholder concerns underlying the low vote result. In addition, a pay-for-performance misalignment is underscored by several concerns including the CEO's high base salary, the rigor of the CEO's long-term incentive goals, and that equity for other NEOs lacks performance conditions. Concerns are also raised with respect to the company's practice of paying dividends and distributions on unexercised options and the large automobile-related perquisite provide to the CEO. Furthermore, the company allows single-trigger vesting of equity upon a change in control and maintains an employment agreement with the CEO that provides for excise tax gross-ups on change in control severance.

Vectrus, Inc.	06/15/2022	Management	1	Yes	Issue Shares in Connection with Acquisition	For	For	For	The negative market reaction at the announcement of the merger was meaningful and the company has underperformed the relevant market index since announcement. Further, the merger will result in Vectrus becoming a controlled company, as AIP will hold approximately 58 percent of outstanding shares. Despite these factors, the strategic rationale of the proposed transaction is sound, as the combined company will have increased scale and geographic, client, and contract diversity. Additionally, the merger is expected to generate cost synergies, be accretive to earnings and free cash flows, and provides meaningful projected tax benefits for the combined company. On balance, cautionary support FOR the proposed merger is warranted.

While annual incentives and equity awards were primarily performance-conditioned, concerns are raised regarding the committee's decision to accelerate vesting of certain equity awards in advance of the expected merger. The committee accelerated the vesting of both time- and performance-based equity awards that were expected to be earned in 2022 and 2023. While the merger has been approved by shareholders, equity acceleration is generally disfavored in advance of closing. Further, the committee's rationale regarding excess golden parachute-related tax implications is not viewed as compelling.

Winmark Corporation	04/27/2022	Management	9	Yes	Advisory Vote to Ratify Named Executive Officers' Compensation	For	Against	Against	Against	A vote AGAINST this proposal is warranted due to an unmitigated pay-for-performance misalignment. The CEO's base salary is relatively high, bonuses are largely discretionary, and equity awards are entirely time-vesting. Other problematic pay practices in the company's pay program include single-trigger equity vesting acceleration provision in CIC agreements, and the lack of risk-mitigating provisions.

Xerox Holdings Corporation	05/19/2022	Management	10	Yes	Advisory Vote to Ratify Named Executive Officers' Compensation	For	Against	Against	Against	A vote AGAINST this proposal is warranted. The company failed to demonstrate adequate responsiveness to last year's say-on-pay vote, despite receiving significantly less than majority support. While the company engaged with investors following the annual meeting and disclosed specific shareholder feedback, the committee failed to implement changes to the compensation program so as to sufficiently address the concerns underlying the failed 2021 vote. Below-target payouts on both annual and long-term incentive awards were reasonably in line with performance for their respective performance periods, and although FY21 annual bonuses and equity awards utilize overlapping metrics, metrics are measured over differing performance periods and this overlap has been eliminated for FY22 awards, mitigating pay-for-performance concerns.

XPO Logistics, Inc.	05/18/2022	Management	11	Yes	Advisory Vote to Ratify Named Executive Officers' Compensation	For	Against	Against	Against	A vote AGAINST this proposal is warranted. Following last year's failed say-on-pay vote, the committee demonstrated only limited responsiveness. It is unclear what portion of shareholder engagement regarding compensation occurred subsequent to the failed vote, and changes to the pay program do not adequately address all of the disclosed shareholder concerns. Given the failed vote result, investors likely expected a more robust response. Further concerns are raised by the pay program for the year in review. Although annual incentive awards were based on a pre-set financial metric, the program allows for an unclear degree of discretion and disclosure of metric goals and payout formulas remained incomplete. The CEO did not receive additional long-term incentive awards in FY21, but outstanding awards utilize relatively short performance and vesting periods while actual performance results for completed performance periods are not disclosed.

Although pay and performance are reasonably aligned for the year in review, the company demonstrated only limited responsiveness to a second consecutive low say-on-pay vote result. Although outreach efforts were disclosed, the proxy provides only a broad discussion of shareholder feedback and lacks specific disclosure regarding the investor concerns that led to the most recent low vote. Finally, without specific investor feedback, it is difficult to discern if the changes made to the compensation program fully address the concerns that led to the low vote.

Company Name	Meeting Date	Proponent	Proposal Sequence Number	Votable Proposal	Proposal Text	Management Recommendation	ISS Recommendation	Voting Policy Recommendation	Vote Instruction	Voting Policy Rationale
Abbott Laboratories	04/29/2022	Shareholder	16	Yes	Require Independent Board Chair	Against	Against	For	For	Two major components at the top of every public company are the running of the board, and the executive responsibilities of running of the company's business. There should be a clear division between the head of the company, and the chair of the board. When there is no clear division of independence between the executive and board branches of a company, poor executive and/or board actions often go unchecked to the ultimate detriment of shareholders. A vote FOR this proposal is warranted as it seeks the adoption of a policy that requires the board's chairman to be an independent director. A vote FOR the proposal is warranted. The proposed safeguards would improve the principles of the 10b5-1 plans held by the company and are not considered overly burdensome.
Abbott Laboratories	04/29/2022	Shareholder	17	Yes	Adopt Policy on 10b5-1 Plans	Against	For	For	For	A vote FOR this proposal is warranted as a more comprehensive disclosure of the company's lobbying-related oversight mechanisms and trade association payments would help shareholders better assess the risks and benefits associated with the company's participation in the public policy process.
